Bentley University's Department of Marketing seeks applicants at the Assistant level for a tenure-track faculty position to start in Fall 2015.

Located in Waltham, Massachusetts, just minutes from Boston, Bentley University is a dynamic community of leaders, teacher-scholars and creative thinkers. Bentley is dedicated to preparing a new kind of business leader and one with the deep technical skills, the broad global perspective and the high ethical standards required to make a difference in an ever-changing world. At Bentley, approximately 4,000 undergraduate and 1,300 graduate students interested in business professions study in a wide range of programs that address all functional areas including accountancy, finance, marketing, management and liberal arts - all anchored in technology. Undergraduate and graduate business programs at Bentley University are AACSB accredited. Bentley University is also one of only a handful of US business schools and of about 130 business schools worldwide to earn European Quality Improvement System (EQUIS) accreditation. See the university website at www.bentley.edu for information about the school, its faculty, its students, and its programs.

We seek individuals who are building a strong research foundation and are excellent teachers. Salary, benefits, and teaching load are competitive and commensurate with qualifications. A supportive, team-oriented work environment promotes personal development and professional accomplishment. The university provides a wide range of resources to both students and faculty through an extensive academic computing environment to support high quality teaching, learning, and research.

Additional Description of Duties:

Position Qualifications: PhD in Marketing or a related field required. PhD must be completed by September 1, 2015. We seek candidates who have the potential of publishing or a strong record of publications in high quality journals, and be able to show evidence of strong teaching.
