

Job Description

The Department of Marketing at CUHK Business School, The Chinese University of Hong Kong invites applications for entry-level positions starting August 2020. We are looking for candidates in both behavioral marketing and quantitative marketing.

The Department provides its members with excellent research support including reduced teaching load, generous start-up grant and state-of-the-art facilities.

Salary and fringe (housing, medical and retirement) benefits will be highly competitive and commensurate with qualifications and experience. Prospective applicants can learn more about the Department from its website <http://www.baf.cuhk.edu.hk/mkt>. Interviews will be conducted at the AMA Summer Marketing Educators' Conference in August.

Please send your full cv package for consideration by our Search Committee via email to mkt@cuhk.edu.hk.