The school subscribes to major databases such as LexisNexis, Compustat, Datastream, etc.

About IUJ

The Graduate School of International Management (GSIM) at IUJ was established about 35 years ago with the support of top Japanese companies, including Panasonic, Komatsu, IBM-Japan, Sony, and Toyota. IUJ offers only graduate-level programs and all instruction is in the English language. The 170-member GSIM student body is truly international, representing over forty countries from all parts of the globe. With internationally trained faculty, excellent facilities for computing and research, and a picturesque rural campus location within 100 minutes of Tokyo by bullet train, IUJ provides a unique, attractive working environment in Japan. IUJ has recently entered an incorporated alliance partnership with Meiji University (Tokyo), one of Japan's top private universities. More information about IUJ can be found at www.iuj.ac.jp.
