KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

General Description of Position:

The Department of Marketing at Kansas State University invites applications for a tenure-track position in Marketing at the assistant professor level with an anticipated start date of August 2017.

Job Description:

The Department of Marketing at Kansas State University invites applications for a tenure-track position in Marketing at the assistant professor level with an anticipated start date of August 2017. The department seeks to add additional faculty for both teaching and research. A Ph.D. in Marketing or a related area is required by the starting date. Salary and fringe benefits are competitive with peer AACSB schools. Productive research targeted at competitive marketing journals, excellent teaching, professional service to the Department, College, and University and continuing career development are expected. The average teaching load is 2/2 (6 Hrs. /Semester). The successful applicant is expected to be an outstanding colleague with demonstrated teaching ability who will interact professionally with other active faculty and teach at the undergraduate and graduate levels, both on-campus and online. Commitment to the University's pledge toward diversity and inclusion is also expected. The culture of the department is extremely collegial and fosters a high level of quality research output. The AACSB accredited College of Business Administration is moving into a new state of the art business building in the fall of 2016. This will allow for an outstanding research and teaching environment, including state of the art research facilities and classrooms.
