Marquette University

Assistant Professor of Marketing - tenure track

Description

The primary responsibilities of the Assistant Professor position are to provide teaching excellence, publish high-quality scholarly research, and engage in impactful University and community service. We are seeking candidates who can teach at least two topics at the undergraduate and/or graduate level including, but not limited to, international marketing, marketing and society, and marketing research. The typical load for an Assistant Professor is four courses (two per semester) during the first year and five courses (two one semester and three the other semester) thereafter. Teaching load can be reduced based on research productivity.

Requirements

Required Knowledge, Skills and Abilities

Earned doctorate or a terminal degree. Demonstrated potential for teaching excellence and high quality research.

Preferred Knowledge, Skills and Abilities

PhD from an AACSB accredited University. Demonstrated evidence of teaching effectiveness as a PhD candidate, Instructor, etc. A robust research agenda that is advancing through the publication process in line with general expectations for a PhD candidate e.g. conference papers, a manuscript
