

FACULTY POSITION IN BEHAVIORAL MARKETING

MASSACHUSETTS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

MIT Sloan School of Management
100 Main Street, Cambridge, MA 02142

The MIT Sloan School of Management invites applications for a tenure-track faculty position in the marketing group with a behavioral focus, beginning July 1, 2020 or as soon thereafter as possible. Candidates should either possess or be near the completion of a PhD by the start of employment, with strong research and teaching potential, in a discipline relevant to consumer behavior, such as marketing/management, behavioral/experimental economics, social psychology, cognitive science, or the information/computer sciences. Teaching is an integral part of the position. Faculty responsibilities include teaching undergraduate, graduate, and executive level courses and conducting research in the area of behavioral marketing. The MIT marketing group draws on a variety of disciplines and the candidate should work well with researchers in these disciplines. The MIT Sloan School is actively soliciting women and minority candidates, though all qualified applicants will be considered for this position.

Applications must include a cover letter, up-to-date curriculum vitae; three letters of recommendation; a brief statement of objectives and aspirations in research and education; at least one (but not more than three) representative research papers; and information about teaching experience. Please submit your application by July 21, 2019 at:

<http://apply.interfolio.com/65247>

MIT is an equal opportunity employer committed to building a culturally diverse intellectual community and strongly encourages applications from women and minorities.