Job Description Summary:

Job ID: 5031

MIAMI UNIVERSITY (OHIO) - College of Creative Arts (CCA) seeks candidates for Assistant Professor in Interactive Media Studies (IMS). This is a full-time tenure-track position and is open at the Assistant Professor rank.

The College of Creative Arts, one of the University's five academic divisions, includes five departments: Architecture/Interior Design, Art, Music, and Theater. IMS is an innovative degree-granting program driven by emerging interactive technologies and a cohort of collaborative faculty who build "horizontal" curriculum and research across campus. As a member of CCA and IMS, this position offers the opportunity to forge innovative partnerships. Located in Oxford, Ohio, within an hour of both Cincinnati and Dayton, Miami - among the nation's top public universities - is a selective, mid-sized public university that combines the academic and cultural benefits of a large university with the values of a small liberal arts college.

Duties/Physical Demands:Duties:

- teach courses in Human-Computer Interaction research, Digital Marketing, User Experience;
- develop curricula;
- maintain an active research program;
- provide service to the University.

IMS faculty are involved in interdisciplinary faculty research; facilitating graduate/undergraduate research projects; leading client-based projects; help lead co-curricular activities, student organizations. This position will be actively involved with the Center for Research in User Experience (CRUX), an IMS research center that uses a wide range of technologies, including eye tracking, galvanic skin response and facial expression analysis, to better understand how users interact with screen-based stimuli and images.

Minimum Qualifications:Required:

- Ph.D. in digital marketing, Informatics, human-computer interaction, or related discipline, by date of appointment;
- Teaching, or research, or industry experience in Human-Computer Interaction research, Digital Marketing, or User Experience.

Preferred Qualifications:Consideration may be given to candidates with:

- An accomplished research and teaching record,
- experience mentoring students on undergraduate/graduate research.
