MEDIA ECONOMICS AND STRATEGY

The Medill School at Northwestern University invites applications for a tenure-track position in Integrated Marketing Communications (IMC) beginning in the 2018–2019 academic year. The position may have the rank of Assistant, Associate or full Professor.

QUALIFICATIONS

Candidates should have a completed, or nearly completed, Ph.D. in communications, marketing, economics, advertising, business, engineering or the social sciences. The preferred emphasis is on the economics of media and technology, platform economics, media strategy and related fields. It is important that the applicant’s research have important implications for integrated marketing communications. Candidates are expected to conduct and publish high caliber, innovative research, teach both undergraduate and graduate students, and perform professional service commensurate with rank.

Faculty will teach in a demanding but rewarding environment at a premier global university. Medill is a professional school, and thus it is critical that the successful candidate integrate theory and professional practice, and that research be actionable by the professions. The Integrated Marketing Communications department offers a full-time 15-month master’s program, a part-time two-year master’s program, an online version of the part-time program and an undergraduate certificate program.

Northwestern University is a federal contractor that actively participates in affirmative action planning in the areas of recruitment and retention. For each employment and promotional opportunity, Northwestern University actively seeks women, minorities, veterans, and persons with disabilities to maintain a University community that is based on equal opportunity and reflects the diversity of American society. Hiring is contingent on eligibility to work in the United States.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

The position will begin September 2019. To ensure full consideration, applications must be received no later than July 31, 2018 but it is expected the position will remain open until filled. Required documents include: CV, copies of research papers, and at least two letters of recommendation to the search committee.
