Located in historic New Haven, a city rich in art and culture, Southern Connecticut State University is a public, intentionally diverse and comprehensive institution committed to academic excellence in education, scholarship, and service for the public good.

The University invites applications from individuals who believe in the mission of public higher education and are committed to outstanding teaching and scholarship/creative activity. Successful candidates will be disciplinary scholars devoted to a student-centric approach.

The University is home to numerous centers, including the Center for Educational and Assistive Technology, the Werth Center for Coastal and Marine Studies, the Center for Excellence on Autism Spectrum Disorders, and the NSF supported Center for Research on Interface Structures and Phenomena. Southern enrolls approximately 10,000 students in 71 undergraduate majors and 64 graduate degree programs. Offering degrees primarily at the Bachelor's and Master's levels, Southern also offers select Doctoral degrees and sixth year diplomas. Southern is the flagship of graduate education in the Connecticut State Colleges and Universities (CSCU) system and an institution of choice among undergraduates in the state.
