Tenure-track or tenured faculty positions in IT Business (Teaching in English)

Description

About TIU

Tokyo International University (TIU) offers undergraduate and graduate programs both in Japanese and English. The English track degree program, called E-Track, attracts students from Japan as well as from around the world.

The curriculum of the E-Track Program enables students to cultivate a broad educational background and deepen their knowledge in the specialized fields of Business Economics, International Relations, and most recently Digital Marketing and Business, including IT Business.

E-Track also boasts small class size, creating stronger bonds between students and teaching staff.
