Faculty Position

Pending funding approval from the University of Colorado-Boulder this summer, the Leeds School of Business anticipates recruiting for a tenure-track position in Marketing. Job duties include research, teaching, and service to the University and profession. The position is open rank but with a strong preference to hire an entry level assistant professor. The marketing division is particularly interested in candidates capable of major research contributions in the area of consumer behavior.

Candidates for a position at the assistant level must either be ABD in marketing or a related field, or hold a PhD in marketing or a related field. ABD candidates will be considered but will be hired as an Instructor to convert to Assistant Professor upon conferral of the PhD. Candidates for the position at the associate level must hold a PhD or equivalent in Marketing or a related field; and have demonstrated superior accomplishments consistent with their level of experience and requested rank, including scholarly research, teaching ability, promise of future contributions, and effective interaction with faculty colleagues, students and external constituents. Compensation and support for research activities are competitive.

Special Instructions to Applicants

Consideration of applications will begin upon receipt and will continue until the appointment is made. If the positions are approved, applications will ultimately be sent through the portal CU Careers with a specific job number. In the interim, please send applications to:
