Job Summary

The Department of Marketing and Supply Chain at the University of Kentucky is pleased to invite applications for a tenure-track position at the Assistant, Advanced Assistant, or Associate Professor level with an anticipated start date of August 2017. The successful candidate must hold a Ph.D. in marketing or related field, have an active research program, and have an excellent record in the classroom. Preference will be given to candidates interested in teaching the capstone Marketing Management course at the undergraduate or graduate level.

Our department offers an outstanding research environment including a behavioral research laboratory, student subject pool, research and travel budget, and a high level of faculty collaboration. In addition, the business school building has recently been completely renovated. We plan to interview candidates at the Summer AMA conference. Applications will begin to be reviewed immediately. The position will remain open until filled.

Applications must include the following:

- Names and contact information for two references
- Letter of application (upload under Cover Letter)
- Evidence of ongoing research (upload under Specific Request 1)
- Curriculum Vitae

Please provide the names and contact information for at least two, no more than three, references when prompted in the academic profile. This information will be utilized to solicit recommendation letters from your references within the employment system.

The University of Kentucky is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity University that values diversity and is located in an increasingly diverse geographical region.
