Faculty Posting Details

Appointment: Full-time, tenure-line position; begins Fall Term 2017.

Responsibilities:

- Teach undergraduate courses in marketing. The faculty hired in this position will have primary responsibility for teaching the introductory marketing course and at least two marketing electives per year. Ability to teach the introductory course from an international or global perspective is essential. Preferred areas for the elective courses include marketing communications, consumer behavior, market research, and marketing strategy.

- Case analysis and projects that stimulate independent critical thinking and promote effective written and oral communication skills and problem solving should be important components of these classes.

- Standard teaching assignment is three courses per semester.
- Other duties include continuation of professional development, advising students, and participation in departmental and university governance.

Qualifications:

- Ph.D. (ABD considered) in marketing and a commitment to undergraduate teaching and liberal arts education.
- Will consider Ph.D. in appropriate liberal arts disciplines related to marketing.
- For those candidates whose doctoral degrees are in non-business disciplines, relevant work experience in the area of marketing and the possession of a Master in Business Administration degree are required.

Compensation and Benefits:

Rank: Assistant or Associate Professor

Salary is commensurate with education and experience.
