Job Summary

The University of West Florida invites applications for one tenure-track Marketing faculty position (position #101620) at the Assistant or Associate Professor level, to start in August 2017. Preferred candidates must have a Ph.D. in Marketing or closely related discipline from an AACSB accredited school at the time of appointment. ABDs will be considered, but must provide strong evidence that the doctoral degree will be completed within the first year of appointment. The position requires a commitment to excellent teaching and research. Candidates are also expected to engage in active service.

The primary teaching areas of interest are Marketing Strategy, and Marketing Management. Secondary areas include but are not limited to International Marketing, International Business, and Business to Business Marketing. A normal teaching load in our department is three courses (two preps) per semester, with summer support opportunities available for research, professional development, or teaching. Candidates will be expected to have a quality program of research and publication. Salary will be AACSB competitive. While position is housed at the main campus, it may require teaching at other university campuses. For additional information, contact Dr. Nestor Arguea at 850-474-3071, e-mail at narguea@uwf.edu. Deadline for receipt of application materials is March 1, 2017, or until the position is filled.

Faculty representatives will meet with candidates at the 2017 AMA Winter Educators' Conference in Orlando, Florida, USA, February 17-19, 2017. To meet with faculty representatives at the conference, you should submit your application materials by Friday, February 3, 2017.
