Woodbury University's School of Business seeks applicants for a full-time position in the Department of Marketing at the assistant or associate professor level starting August 2019.

Required:

Woodbury University's School holds AACSB accreditation, which entails that candidates must meet AACSB's standards of being Scholarly Academics (SA), which include an earned Ph.D. in Marketing (or have clear evidence of completing their degree before the end of 2019), active engagement in high quality research on marketing topics in relevant journals, presentations at national/international academic conferences, and a proven track record of high quality teaching in marketing at both the undergraduate (BBA) and graduate (MBA) levels. In addition candidates must have the capability to be a faculty advisor/mentor, as well as being actively engaged in service to the School and University community. A selected candidate must be authorized to work in the United States.

Preferred:

Preference will be given to candidates with a record of high quality teaching and a strong interest in teaching undergraduate (BBA) and graduate (MBA) courses in a variety of marketing subjects including Marketing Strategy and Marketing Research. Interest to teach undergraduate fashion marketing courses is also desirable.

The University:

Nestled between the Verdugo Mountains and Griffith Park, Woodbury University is located in Burbank, home of international film, television, animation, and post-production studios. Woodbury University is a student-centered and learning-centered institution dedicated to transforming and preparing students for successful careers in the twenty-first century. Founded in 1884, the small, private university has developed a philosophy and environment that nurtures creativity and accomplishment with bachelor's and master's programs in business, architecture, design, media, and the liberal arts.

School of Business:

Operating from a new state-of-the-art building, the School enrolls students in two degree programs. The BBA degree has a clear Management focus, but students can also major in Accounting, Marketing or Fashion Marketing. The MBA degree offers courses in a non-traditional format that meet in the evenings or weekends that accommodate the working student. All programs and courses offer a balance of theory and practice.

Remuneration:

Competitive and market based depending on rank with in the University's ranking system.

Application:

Review of applications will remain open until the position is filled. The application should include: (1) Letter of application detailing: a) interest in the position; b) research interests and accomplishments; c) teaching interests and experience; d) a teaching philosophy statement; and e) review of professional background. (2) Current curriculum vitae which clearly demonstrate the above mentioned requirements with special attention to meeting AACSB's Scholarly Academic (SA) status.
